Subject: City status for Drogheda

I would just like to have my voice heard and express my concern at the lack of investment and focus by the Government for Drogheda.

I find it hard to believe that the largest town in Ireland is been neglected and overlooked by the Government. During the last number of years the only investment Drogheda for was a poxy till bridge where as Dundalk got all the industrial investment.

I think it is high time the people of Drogheda get some recognition and give the town it's well overdue city status and help the town thrive to be a major force in Ireland's future.

Too many politicians have promised much but delivered little let's have our rights.

Regards
Gerard Byrne.
