Opening up the Midlands & Northwest

X Route Motorway “Donegal to Deise”

To address the Dublin bias of the current motorway network with a central spine running from Letterkenny or Donegal Town to Clonmel or Waterford.

This would provide a much needed midlands route for North South traffic while opening up Midlands & Northwest for tourism & trade.

It would redirect a lot of traffic away from the M50 and Dublin area thus relieving congestion and possibly avoiding further upgrade expense there.

Also it would provide better access to Rosslare which may become more important as a direct route to Europe given the possible restrictions of Brexit.
